18.7 Acres Bordering BLM land in the Elkhorn Mountains with year-round living off the grid on a gated road and elk and deer hunting with a cabin or home site with fantastic views that's all close to the National Forest. It's for real, year-round property in the foothills of the Elkhorn Mountains near Radersburg, Montana, and it borders BLM land too! Properties like this are extremely hard to find in the Elkhorns and the views are amazing from the leveled building site that's already in place. It's ready to build your dream home or cabin overlooking the Missouri River drainage below and the mountain ranges beyond, and the Elkhorn Mountains are right behind you as the backdrop. The property and building site are backed up against thousands of acres of BLM lands, so you know you've got lots of elbow room right out your back door. Having all that extra land right there is such a bonus that you can hike, hunt, and recreate on any time you want.
